year 2000

PERFORMANCE CONSULTING

'So you want to be a performance consultant?' Dana Gaines Robinson, November, page 14

PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT

'When training isn't the answer' Paul Z Jackson, March, page 21

'Managing performance: getting the best out of people' Caroline Love, August, page 19

POWER AND INFLUENCE

'Power and influence in organisations, part one' Mike Phipps, June, page 12

'Power and influence in organisations, part two' Mike Phipps, July, page 16

PRESENTATION SKILLS

'The art of persuasion' Terence Sharkey, October, page 28

PROBLEM SOLVING

'Houston, we have a problem' David Tooth, July, page 24

PSYCHOLOGICAL CONTRACT

'Negotiating the psychological contract, part one' Dr John Boddy, August, page 10

'Negotiating the psychological contract, part two' Dr John Boddy, September, page 20

RETURN ON INVESTMENT

'The return-on-investment process: issues and trends' Jack J Phillips and Patti P Phillips, October, page 8

ROLE PLAY

'Using role play successfully' Brian Dodsworth, June, page 18

SIMULATIONS

'Simulations: what they contribute to training programmes' Christopher Elgood, January, page 22

STRATEGY

'Employability: a strategic role for training' Charles Woodruffe, February, page 22

'Linking training to HR strategy' Sue Brelade and Chris Harman, February, page 28

'Strategic alignment' Brian Woodall, June, page 28

TEAMS

'Time to focus learning on the team' David Clutterbuck, April, page 10

TRAINING NEEDS ANALYSIS (TNA)

'Learning Needs Analysis by another name' Diane Bailey, April, page 26

TRUST

'Creating an atmosphere of trust' Terence Deane, September, page 28

'Trust, loyalty, risk and revenge: leadership challenges in healthy organisations' Professor David Robertson, July, page 12

VIRTUAL TEAMS

'Managing virtual teams' Joe Willmore, February, page 18

New Media

CBT

'Three roads to cost-effectiveness ... or how to have your cake and eat it!' Clive Shepherd, February, page 36

E-LEARNING

'A day in the life of an e-learner' Janet Stevenson, August, page 29

'Either/or?' Barrie Farrow, December, page 34

'e-learning and the future of training: the role of technology in developing soft skills' Hugh Murray, October, page 34

'Trainers must ride the e-tiger, or die' David Jameson, April, page 38

E-MAIL

'Softening the organisational impact of e-mail' Bob Hallewell, November, page 32

E-TRENDS

'The e-humanising effect of technology' Mike Parkes, June, page 41

PERFORMANCE SUPPORT

'Beyond performance support – and what happened to training?' Nigel Harrison, December, page 32

TECHNOLOGY-BASED TRAINING

'Technology-based training: its past, present and future' Howard Hills, March, page 32

'Using technology to recreate the classroom' Sylvia Ewing, September, page 36

WEB-BASED TRAINING

'Web-based training: a view of the future' Dr Michael A Kearsley, May, page 36

Train the Trainer supplements

by Phil Green

'What is effective training?'	January
'How do you approach analysis?'	February
'Training Needs Analysis'	March
'Design, development and method'	April
'Motivating the learner to learn'	May
'Experiential learning'	June
'Dealing with people in groups'	July
'Design for learning'	August
'Designing measurement and assessment tests'	September
'Where, when and how?'	October
'Results of training'	November
'Bobbie's State of the Union'	December

If you missed any issues of Training Journal during 2000 and would like to obtain copies, then please contact Fenman Ltd at (tel) 01353 665533. Back issues cost £10.00 each. Alternatively, you can visit the Training Journal website at www.trainingjournal.co.uk to access abstracts of the main feature articles. A compilation of the 'Train the Trainer' series has been published and is available from Fenman Ltd at a cost of £35.00.